Vandalism up in city parks

Night parties leave damage

By JUDY POLUMBAUM

ALBANY — Nocturnal parties in Memorial Park which occasionally last beyond midnight have begun to wear down the patience of neighborhood homeowners.

Several Carmel Avenue residents banded together to discuss the problem last week after a Friday night reveller, possibly one of a group asked to leave by police, returned to race his car over the lawn.

"We've tolerated the noise for years, but now they're starting to destroy the park," declared one man, gesturing out his front window to the unsightly tire tracks in the grass across the street.

He and others neighbors seem fairly accepting of annoyances that come with living next to a park — specifically, the fact that young people tend to congregate there, playing their car radios and drinking beer. As one woman put it, "We were all young."

"The only time I really object," this woman said, "is when it gets to be after midnight and the noise is so bad and they start throwing beer bottles."

Sometimes the partiers throw mud or eggs at cars and houses, she said, adding, "I think at that point, there should be some respect or considera-

EC crime drops

Statistics show fewer major cases

By GORDON RADDUE

EL CERRITO — A busier but increasingly effective year in dealing with crime and other miscellaneous problems is reflected in the El Cerrito Police Department's annual report for 1982.

Despite slight reductions in personnel, the department's total number of services rendered was up 37 percent from the previous year. At the same time, there were sharp drops in such major crimes as robbery, burglary and assault. And for the second consecutive year, the city was without a single homicide.

"The citizens are relying on the police for more and more services," mal control records for 1982 show that 190 cats were reported missing and 135 were returned. But the number of cats found is in fact higher, Brasier and Simmons said.

They said some lost cats which are located are not returned because the owner may have moved away, no longer want the cat or not want to pay the fees for the cat being picked up and boarded.

The records place last year's cat population at 1,100. They show 35 stray cats were picked up, of which 19 were returned to owners and 16 were

Project unites art, education

Demonstrations, exhibits planned

By CHARLES FELTON

ALBANY — Local artists may soon have an opportunity to demonstrate their skills and exhibit their works in Albany schools.

"The idea is to find a way to bring more fine arts into the schools," Superintendent Stephen Goldstone explained to the school board at its meeting last week.

"The goal would be two-fold," he said. "We would invite artists to display their art work on a permanent, long-term basis and also we would like to have them actually demonstrate what they do at the school site."

The idea was originally conceived by board member Jean Tenret in conjunction with Albany metal sculptor Bruce Horton.

"I'm part of a group called SPACE, Sculpture and Community Environment," Horton said. "Right now we're preparing lectures about sculpture for the high school.

"The idea is to build pieces on site. The whole thing about sculpture is not the art work itself, but how it is built.

"I'd love to get the kids acquainted with something besides the art from 500 years ago," he said. "Also, there's a lot more to look at in a school besides trees and walls."

If the proposal is approved, area artists will be contacted, inviting them to participate. Each artist would have to sign a waiver relieving the district of responsibility for any damage to a displayed work.

"This program could provide an excellent opportunity for artists like Bruce Horton who sometimes have a (physical) difficulty getting their work displayed," Tenret said. Horton's work consists of very large steel sculptures.

The board, during its ongoing attempt to update and streamline its policies, heard strong warnings about the difficulty of attracting quality substitute teachers to Albany schools.

"Good people are beginning to refuse to come to Albany," middle school Spanish teacher Mike Mirabella said. "We're scraping the bottom of the barrel."

"I can't argue the importance of this," Goldstone responded. "It's a matter of priorities — we have a lot of competing needs in this district." Substitute teachers are paid only $35 per day.

In other business the board:

• Nominated board member Kay Rabin to serve on the California School Boards Association (CSBA).

"CSBA is the collective voice of all the school boards across California," Robert Nehls, another board member, said. Nehls served on CSBA's Board of Directors for four years.

"CSBA represents close to 100 percent of California's districts.

How many of us have attended some kind of game and had it spoiled by some unthinking person speaking negatively and creating a bad mood for players and spectators alike?

When my own son was young I tried attending a few little league baseball games and became totally disillusioned by the conduct of the parents and coaches. For some time I intentionally stayed away from such events, but last year I decided to see if things had changed any and went to different types of athletic events.

I was amazed and delighted to observe that the adults and the coaches had cleaned up their act considerably, and I noticed a different mood among the young players. It wasn't all that bad a thing for a 9-year-old or 14-year-old to make a mistake. I sensed said Police Chief Patrick Reeve. "They're certainly calling us more."

The services-rendered total soared to 16,559 compared to the 1981 figure of 12,066, according to the report. Of last year's total, 12,013 were miscellaneous services, 865 were traffic-related and 2,781 were criminal activity assignments.

Robberies fell from 122 in 1981 to 100 last year, including a 67-47 reduction in armed holdups. Strong-arm robberies dipped slightly from 55 to 53, the average age of street-crime victims being 40.

Amazingly enough, while bank robberies reached the unusually high total of eight last year, only five holdups occurred at service stations, once a prime target in this category.

"Most of the bank robberies were cleared by arrest, either by our department or by FBI investigators," said Reeve.

Burglaries were down from 411 to 365, including a 311-266 drop in residential offenses; burglaries of business establishments were virtually unchanged, going from 100 to 99.

A high incidence of auto burglaries and shoplifting brought the larceny-theft total up from 1,047 in 1981 to 1,146 last year. Thefts of more than $200, however, were slightly reduced in number, the big jump occurring at the less than $50 level: 463 to 537.

Auto thefts were down from 87 to 78.

The department posted a respectable record for clearing major offenses by arrest, going from 283 in 1981 to 353 last year.

Arrests for major offenses totaled 291 for the year, of which 211 were for larceny, 37 for burglary, eight for robbery, 33 for assault and two for auto theft. The larceny arrests alone exceeded the 180 adult arrests for all major crimes in 1981.

Narcotics violations were up from six in 1981 to 13 last year, of which 11 were cleared by arrest.

Juvenile arrests were down from 135 to 112 for boys and from 49 to 43 for girls. Of the 155 juveniles arrested last year, only 29 were El Cerrito residents. The most common arrests were for robbery, burglary and larceny.

Traffic accidents, private property accidents, and traffic accident casualties dropped significantly from the previous year. One private property auto accident fatality occurred when a man's car rolled over him as he was working on it in his driveway, but there were no public right-of-way traffic deaths.

Police issued 9,392 traffic citations last year, a 26 percent increase in moving traffic and parking violation enforcement activity.

Reeve said he was "very gratified" by the general decrease in crime and traffic accidents.

"I think it's the result of very aggressive work by our police patrolmen and detectives," he said. "Our reserve officers also have been a big help. They're great on routine patrol."

Reeve also credited the El Cerrito Crime Prevention Committee with "elevating the awareness of the community to crime-related activities and its appreciation of the workings of the criminal justice system."

Reeve's optimism, however, is tempered by the fact that his department continues to be beset with financial problems resulting from the city's generally poor fiscal condition.

"My experience from 30 years in police work tells me that the crime rate will go up again," he said.

- Accepted a further donation of $2,000 from the Albany High School Boosters Club.

The club has now donated $8,000, $300 more than the $7,700 it originally borrowed from the school district to purchase bingo equipment.

The Boosters Club was formed to assist students who have been forced, because of budget cuts, to pay a $60 fee to participate in after-school sports activities. Money is raised through Saturday night bingo games.

- Discussed the role of the district in supporting and encouraging outside tutoring for students who may need special assistance.

Present board policy prevents any Albany teacher from privately tutoring any student currently enrolled in his or her class. This will remain unchanged.

However, some board members and others in the audience thought Albany should provide a list of acceptable tutors for parents to use. The problem, according to Board member Peggy Thomsen, is that "the district could not assume responsibility for the tutors."

- Approved the hiring of ley Haberfeld, a part-time selor at the middle school Richard Salisbury, Robert nall, Jack McFarland and Giblin, all to coach basket the middle school. Also h the middle school were fo porary instructional aides Murry, Martha-Ann Le Perkins and Roberta Ch son.

tion."

While some neighbors say they would like tighter patrol of the park, they generally have high praise for Albany police, saying officers usually arrive within minutes of a call.

But as one man pointed out, "The kids are smart. All of a sudden, they scatter. When the police come by, they're gone."

Some residents are contemplating the idea of a curfew which would make the park off-limits during certain hours of the night.

The notion is not novel: El Cerrito parks are closed from dusk to dawn, and most parks in Berkeley are closed from 10 p.m. to 6 a.m.

There still is some controversy over the Berkeley ordinance, according to Berkeley police spokesperson Andy Goodman. "Lots of residents wanted the parks closed at certain hours," he said. "The problem with that is if it's closed, it has to be closed: It can't be open to residents and closed to other people."

In the absence of a park curfew, open bottle ordinance or other specific controls in Albany, police are limited in their ability to deal with the gatherings in Memorial Park, Police Chief James Simmons noted.

"There's no ordinance that stops them from drinking in the park if they're of age," he said. "There's nothing that shuts it (the park) down.

"We can't go up and ride roughshod over them and shoo them all out," he added, "because then we'd be wrong."

As for vandalism — "malicious mischief," in police parlance — a culprit usually has to be caught in the act, "and that's real tough," Simmons said.

Vandalism is a chronic problem in all Albany's parks, according to Parks Supervisor Larry Garcia. "There's a lot, there's just pages and pages of it," he said, pulling out a file of vandalism reports he keeps in the maintenance building at Memorial Park.

Garcia went through the list of damage at Memorial Park last year: broken benches, picnic tables and fences, smashed lights, spray-painted grafitti, bleachers turned over, toilets plugged up with paper towels...

put up for adoption. In addition, 24 dead cats were found.

The memo came in response to a Council request for information on Albany's cat situation after reports of cat disappearances from the 800 block area of Santa Fe and San Carlos Avenues.

The tally of missing cats in the area over the past year amounts to at least 16, with some families missing two and even three. Although none have evidence of foul play, the owners maintain the disappearances are more than coincidence.

The reports have prompted one Albany resident, Dario Meniketti, to offer a reward for information leading to anyone responsible for "abuse of cats."

But in their memo, Brasier and Simmons said: "it does not appear...that a problem exists such as has been suggested."

Ancient art of belly dancing

El Cerrito's Alia teaches the rite

By STEVE TADY

EL CERRITO — Her name is Bonnie, but when she performs he ancient Mesopotamian ritual of birth, she calls erself "Alia".

Bonnie Wiard has been eaching that ritual, also nown as belly dancing, to itizens of El Cerrito for 10 ears. Her class is on Vednesday, 7 to 9 p.m., at he El Cerrito Community Center.

Before anyone goes ushing down there to catch er act, Wiard warns that he won't fulfill the dazing fantaof North Beach rabian nights.

"Unfortunately, they are oing it nude in North each," she said. "I have a ance style of my own. It's ery personal. I would not rovoke anyone, I never o. My style is graceful and nsual, not sexual."

Originally, men were exuded from watching belly ancers. In 4,000 B.C., the ult of the Mother Goess, or patroness of omen and regeneration, rbade men from being art of the birth process.

As the child emerged om the womb, women thered around the mothand would immitate the oluntary undulations of e stomach muscles in the ope of bringing about a e birth.

Quite a far cry from the ulations going on in orth Beach, or El Cerrito that matter.

If you want to learn belly ncing from Wiard, you ll be watching the best of th worlds, "a combinaon of the ethnic dance and e cabaret approach," she d.

At one extreme, in the oslem world, belly dancs cover everything, omen are not supposed look sexy in any way, so ey are wrapped from ad to toe. At the other treme, women are apped in nothing but ir skin.

Wiard wears pantaloons th a coin belt, a coin bra, s of makeup and veils.

The class begins with the sic steps, followed by the olation movements of e body part involved in dancing. Finger cymbal ngs are added and they all coordinated with sic into the final dance.

Belly dancing may never a dent in the market for robics classes, but it is od exercise, and it will ten the stomach.

"You don't have to be t to do the dance. The er you practice, the ster it gets. When I've ned weight, it's been o eating," she said.

And it's not just the abminal area that gets a d workout. "All of the y parts get isolated durthe dance. You're up on t toes, and then you shimmy down to the floor. I'm tired after a night of dancing," she said.

Wiard has danced at nearly every club in the Bay Area that features belly dancing as entertainment, aside from the famed North Beach establishments.

How does belly dancing pay? A night's work will earn "Alia" around $25 plus tips. Tips, as in waiting tables, are the main money maker for belly dancers. Where the customers put the tips can cause some problems, though, she said.

"I danced at a party for a CB radio club and when I started I couldn't do my dance because they were interrupting so often to come up and give me tips. My boyfriend was watching and he got a little nervous, but it turned out all right," she said.

Her biggest classes have been 45 students, but popularity has fallen off a bit: "I would like more students," she said. "We have an interesting mix of students for the current class. There are some who are outstanding. There is a nine-year-old girl who comes with her mother. Two men showed up and watched one class, but they didn't sign up. The female students would have got a kick out of that," she added.

The spring classes will begin March 9 and the fee for residents for the six-week class will be $23.

Albany hopes new lighting saves $4,500

By JUDY POLUMBAUM

ALBANY — Albany will be able to save nearly $4,500 a year in street lighting costs under a lamp replacement plan adopted by the City Council last week.

The council Tuesday approved a recommendation from Public Works Director Robert Guletz to replace most of the 400-watt lamps along San Pablo Avenue with 250-watt high pressure sodium lamps. The higher wattage would be maintained only at intersections.

Guletz made the recommendation after two months of tests to see how turning out alternate lights or reducing lamp size affected visibility. He decided the latter method was preferable because it provided more reliable and uniform lighting.

The city will be contracting with Pacific Gas and Electric for the conversion to the 250-watt lamps. The change will cause no "significant reduction in lighting level," according to Guletz.

After about nine months, the period necessary to pay back PG&E for the expense of the conversion, the city will be able to save $4,469 annually on street lighting, Guletz said.

The savings equal 16 percent of the current cost of lighting San Pablo Avenue, he said.

The council also approved another recommendation from Guletz to install a new timing device on the traffic signal at Marin and Santa Fe Avenues.

Guletz said the existing timer, which dates from the 1960s, is inflexible and constantly breaking down.

Replacing the device will cost roughly $3,300, including $300 for a cabinet. The money will come out of the city's gas tax fund.

The new time clock will allow the Santa Fe signal to be synchronized with the recently installed traffic light further down Marin on Masonic to keep the traffic flow at 25 miles per hour, Guletz said.

The council also authorized city staff to advertise for bids for an estimated $7,150 worth of work to improve handicap access at the Albany Library.

The federal government will pick up the cost of the improvements, which include a wheelchair ramp at the front entrance and restroom and corridor modifications.

In other action Tuesday, the council postponed a decision on an application by the American Legion to conduct bingo on Saturday evenings.

Save those kitties!

With all those cats disappearing in Albany — Heaven alone knows to what fate — the time is long past to let your pets roam. The experimental labs are hungry for animals, need I say more? Many pets wound up in experimental cages on Albany Hill some years back. If you truly love your cats, keep them in at all times. If you truly love your dogs, keep them in your yards.

Cats should be licensed as well as dogs. This is only fair. Anyone that can not afford a $10 license fee, cannot afford a cat!

It isn't fair to your neighbors to let your pets roam and defecate where they please. Instead of throwing rocks at these poor animals, try throwing rocks at the owners.

I have had my cat 13 years. He's under house arrest and always has been. You see I love him.

Clear those drains!

Let's help our little city! How? Just adopt your nearest street corner drain and keep it clean. Clogged drains cause trouble and expense and who knows when the rains will stop?

At this time the Public Works Department just doesn't have enough manpower to keep all the drains clear. So, with citizen participation, we can help our city and save tax dollars, too. By averting major drain problems the city won't have to send out emergency crews at overtime wages.

Adopt your drain and care for it, but leave the four at the corner of Marin and San Pablo for me. Thanks.

Sincerely,
Dario Meniketti

Workshop: learn about retirement

KENSINGTON — "Retirement-The Great Unknown" is the title of the first of a series of one day workshops being sponsored by the mental health professionals of the First Unitarian Church of Berkeley on March 5, from 9 a.m. - 3:30 p.m.

Registrations starts at 9 a.m. followed by keynote speaker Ken Crittenden, a therapist who specializes in gerontology.

Discussion groups include the phsychological aspects of pre and post retirement, led by Dr. Frank Pepper, professor of counseling at San Francisco State University. Spirituality will be discussed by Dr. Joseph Fabry, executive directorof the Institute of Logotherapy. Joining her husband is Judith Fabry who chairs the Unitarian Caring Circle.

Financial aspects will be led by Leevern Johnson, formerly assistant professor of business administration at the University of Oregon. Careers-Transition Styles is the subject of Marilyn Harryman, professor and therapist, and Mary Dewey, a career life planning counselor in private practice.

The social/political action group will be chaired by Karl Grossenbacher, co-convener of the local Gray Panthers, along with Evelyn Johnson, head of local Peace Committee and Gertrude Hall, specialist on aging. The community service business group will hear Evelyne Myatt, assistant coordinator of the Family Companion Program in Oakland and Terry DeBeal, small business owner.

Suggested donation for the all-day workshop is $4, with a bag lunch included.

The next in the series is women and alcohol, scheduled for May 21. The First Unitarian Church is located at 1 Lawson Road in Kensington. For further information call the facilitator, Fern Labuhn at 841-2716.

Gateview condos get a new manager

ALBANY — David Sontheimer, a San Francisco real estate manager and developer, was recently hired as resident manager of the 485-unit McKinley Towers condominiums.

"We believe we have found a man with every qualification to manage a residential community of McKinley Towers' size and complexity," says Emil Melfi, Jr., president of the Homeowners' Board of Directors, to which the manager reports.

Sontheimer will manage a staff of 20 maintenance and security personnel in day-to-day operations. He replaces Guy D. Strong, whose resignation was effective Feb. 9.

Sontheimer is former president and part owner of a family held real estate management and development operation, specializing in condominimums, renovations and other construction projects. Before that he was real estate representative for a major San Francisco-based insurance company.

Sontheimer received a B.S. degree in business administration, with a real estate major, from the University of Arizona, Tucson.

Hospital series: coping with cancer

Limited space is still available for the free "I Can Cope" series co-sponsored by the medical oncology program at Alta Bates Hospital and the American Cancer Society, Alameda County Unit.

Register for the eight-week series before Thursday, March 3.

The series begins Thursday, March 10, and is designed to help individuals and families live with the chronic disease of cancer. Physicians, nurses, social workers, dieticians and other from the Alta Bates Hospital and the community will participate.

Topics include how to cope with daily health problems, how to express your feelings about having cancer, how to like yourself, how to live with your limitations, and what community resources are available to you and your family.

Each weekly session will be held in Alta Bates Hospital, Conference Room 3, 3001 Colby Street at Ashby in Berkeley from 7 to 9 p.m., on Thursdays from March 10 through April 28.

Programs are provided free of charge as a community service by the hospital and the Cancer Society. For more information, call 843-7145.

By Oswald Jacoby and James Jacoby

Try not to look at the East and West cards. You are in six spades. If trumps are going to break 2-2, the hand is a cinch. However, trumps break 2-2 less than 41 percent of the time.

The queen of diamonds is opened and you take your ace. Now can you find any combination of adverse cards that will allow you to make your slam against the 3-1 trump break?

Let's work it out. You can make the slam against that 3-1 break if you can get to discard your three diamond losers on dummy's long clubs before the man with the three trumps can get to ruff in.

You must start by playing your high trumps and you must play your king and a second trump to dummy's ace. Next, lead a low club from dummy, finesse your 10, cash your ace, return to dummy with the heart king and get your three discards since West must follow to the third and fourth clubs.

Now that you could not handle a 3-3 club break since that deadly ruff would come as you got your second diamond discard. Further study will show that there would be no way to clear the whole club suit against any 4-2 break except the one shown.

A word about the bidding. South's five no-trump call was the old-fashioned Culbertson grand slam force to ask partner to bid seven with two of the three top trump honors. South did not use Blackwood because he didn't need to.

Even 25 years ago, Moore and Shamblin evinced the dynamic, straight-ahead jazz artistry they show on Tiny's two 1980s releases on Kaleidoscope, "Back to Back" (with Jethro Burns) and "Tiny Moore Music." Moore, Shamblin and Brainard obviously were well-steeped in the Southwest guitar tradition that produced such jazz greats as Charlie Christian, T-Bone Walker, Herb Ellis and Barney Kessel, among others.

Kaleidoscope's Jeff Alexson and Tom Diamant have done an excellent job of selecting tunes from the 300-plus they had to work with from the Tiffany Transcriptions. A special treat is the old Nat "King" Cole Trio jazz novelty, "Straighten Up and Fly Right," sung well by Dean McKinney and swung well by Tiny, her husband to be.

There's a version of "The Girl I Left Behind Me" that contrasts interestingly with the one Wills' big band recorded in 1941 (available in the current double-LP anthology, "Okeh Western Swing").

My personal favorite of the bunch is "Blackout Blues," which sustains gut-level earthiness through a great Duncan vocal and appropriate-to-the-mood playing by Kelso, Holley and Moore.

Computer classes are offered by LHS

Two classes for adults offered at the Lawrence Hall of Science may help you save money on income taxes and avoid the annoynace of retyping papers.

"Introduction to VisiCalc," a two-day class starting March 1, demonstrates personal and professional uses of the VisiCalc microcomputer program to tack problems presented in a row-and-columnformat: making a budget and preparing income taxes for example.

"Computers as Automatic Typewriters: Introducing Word Processing" is another two-day class on computers for the novice. It includes composing and editing letters, business forms or dissertations. Students will learn simple commands that eliminate retyping of an entire page because of one typographical error. The class begins March 17.

Lawrence Hall of Science offers classes for all ages, from pre-school through adult, in astronomy, biology, chemistry, computers, math and physics. For more information call 642-5132.

Diploma class set

G.E.D. (high school equivalency) for disabled and able-bodied students will be offered by Vista College beginning Feb. 9.

Taught by math consultant Gene Novak and language specialist Camille Young, the class will be held from noon til 4 p.m. Mondays and Wednesdays at the Live Oak Recreation Center, 1301 Shattuck Ave., Berkeley.

Enrollment will be ongoing throughout the semester.

Exercise set for elders

ALBANY — The Albany YMCA will start a new exercise class on March 3, called "Seniorcise."

This class is especially designed for older people to get and stay in shape. The exercises will be light and consist of muscle strengthening, muscle toning, flexibility, relaxation, and some conditioning.

All participants should wear loose and comfortable clothing. The class is offered Thursdays, from 10:30 - 11:30 a.m. at the Albany YMCA, 921 Kains Ave., Albany.

The cost is $1 per class of $4 per calender month. For more information please call the YMCA at 525-1130.

Film series features Eastern healing

A series of films featuring the late Alan Watts, one of the foremost interpreters of Eastern thought to America will be held on Sundays at 5 p.m. beginning March 6 at the Berkeley Fellowship of Unitarian Universalists, Cedar and Bonita.

The March 6 program of films, narrated by Alan Watts, will include "The Art of Meditation, "The flow of the Tao," and "Taoism."

On March 13, "Xian," a film about the ancient capitol of China at the beginning of the Silk Road to the West will be featured. It has rare footage of the life-sized pottery excavations from the tomb of the Yellow Emporor who unified China. A second film on "Holistic Healing" features many of the leaders of the new health movement.

On March 20, the award winning "The Fields of the Senses," filmed in a Tibetan monastery about the community observing the death of a monk based upon The Tibetan Book of the Dead, as well "A Tibetan Healing," will be shown.

Each of these programs will include an opportunity for discussion. The series costs $7 with single tickets $3. Call the Berkeley Fellowship at 841-4824 for further information.

Old clothes sale set at Y

A pair of free shoes per purchase will be featured at the sale of slightly used men's and women's clothing to take place on Thursday, March 3 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at Y-House, 2600 Bancroft Way, Berkeley.

A used clothing sale takes place regularly at Y-House on the first Thursday of every month.

Learn to aid distressed parents

Parental Stress Service of Alameda County is offering a volunteer training program.

Class will begin March 1, for nine days, each Tuesday and Thursday evening, from 7-10 p.m., and one Saturday, March 5, from 10 a.m. - 4 p.m.

Volunteers will learn about the dynamics of child abuse and neglect, telephone crisis counseling, parenting skills, child development and other related fields.

Barbara Lowry weds in El Cerrito rite

Two hundred guests attended the recent reception for Barbara Lowry and Robert Bacon, who were married Jan. 1 in a late afternoon ceremony at St. Jerome's Catholic Church in El Cerrito. Champagne, hors d'oeuvres, and a wedding cake were served at the post-nuptial festivities held at Richmond Country Club.

Among the guests were the bride's children, Lisa Lowry of Los Angeles, who just graduated from UC-Berkeley and is now an assistant manager at The Gap in Beverly Hills; Lesley Lowry, a student at University of San Francisco; and John, a junior at Salesian.

Also attending were her sister, Marcia Fausset of El Cerrito; brother Michael Marcos and wife Janet of El Cerrito; the groom's mother, Lorene Bacon of Pajaro Dunes; brother David Bacon of Pacifica (best man); and Barbara's uncles and their wives, Erwin and Irene Marcos of Albany, Melford and Alice Marcos of Rodeo, Clarence and Mozelle and Edwin and Marti Marcos of Martinez, and Beno and Dorothy Marcos, also of Rodeo.

The newlyweds took a honeymoon cruise to Mexico and are now residing in El Cerrito.

Daughter of the late Manuel and Winifred Marcos, the bride graduated from El Cerrito schools, San Jose State, and is employed with the El Cerrito Chamber of Commerce. She chairs Acorn Branch, Children's Hospital Medical Center; serve on the El Cerrito Parks and Recreation Commission; and is president of the El Cerrito Historical Society.

A graduate of San Francisco State University, the groom is owner and general manager of Betty's Stores in El Cerrito Plaza; president of the El Cerrito Chamber; past president of the El Cerrito Plaza Merchants Association and Albany/El Cerrito Exchange Club; and is currently vice chairman of the El Cerrito Planning Commission.

Hints from a tax exper

(The following article is by Harry Rabin of Gee, Rabin & Associates, business and tax consultants in El Cerrito.)

By HARRY RABIN

While it may be old hat to many of us, filing an income tax return will be an entirely new experience for millions of Americans this year and it's apt to cause some apprehension.

All the recent news about tax increases, together with benefits from the 1981 law coming into effect for the first time, are bound to have everyone confused.

Because of this we advise not only first-timers but everyone else to get as early a start as possible on their 1982 returns. That way, if problems come up, there's still ample time to work out reasonable solutions.

There is a lot that people can do for themselves whether they do their own returns or seek professional assistance. In fact, most of the original spadework rests with the individual, regardless of how the return is prepared.

Here are some suggested rules that all taxpayers should observe:

- Report any and all income earned during 1982. You may be penalized if you don't and penalties are going higher all the time.
- Be able to document all claimed deductions. "Guestimates" are OK in some areas of a tax return but contrary to law in others.
- If you get confused, don hearsay advice from anyone. Se sional who knows tax laws, rules lations.
- Get an early start. Putting last minute doesn't make the ta and can rob you of valuable tim ing down documentation.
- If you find your records they need to be, learn from that start now to make certain you the same boat a year from now.

If you bought, sold or ref home last year, you may have door for significant tax savings.

Savings sometimes border on mous. Experience shows that running into the "the hundreds may be uncovered if applicable laws are fully understood and applied.

For buyers, certain costs ma ducted currently. For sellers, may be used to reduce the sellin quired to be taken into account tain other costs may be deduc rently.

Taxpayers refinancing are both shoes and may have curre tions that should not be overlook

There also are tax provisions persons 55 years of age and old empt from taxation up to $125,00 tal gains on the sale of a home.
